Details

Description

This French SME is producing high quality, high value organic rice based ingredients or products and requires very specific rice grain quality for this purpose. It is specifically looking for sourcing 3 to 5 tons of round organic rice (whatever species and from 2019 harvest), already polished to the level of containing only starch with a residual mass of 60 to 80%.

Therefore, the company is particularly interested in building a cooperation with a small size European producer under a supplier agreement where the producer could supply the volume of rice according to technical specifications.

Technical Specification or Expertise Sought

High polishing ratio reaches up to 40% of initial mass. Most producers ship rice at 93% polishing ration or above.

The rice grain should be supplied with a polishing level high enough to reach the core of the grain (only starch) 50-70% of residual mass ideally. Super premium polished rice could go down to 25%

The producer sought after should be equipped with a polishing device and able to adjust it to the required level on a basis of 300 kg per hour. Hence the priority for smaller size producers.
